Carmel Church 230 kV Electric Transmission Line Project

Dominion Energy is committed to providing the latest information on projects in your community. You are receiving this postcard because construction will begin soon for the Carmel Church 230 Kilovolt (kV) Electric Transmission Line Project in Caroline County, Virginia.

Construction is scheduled to last from November 2026 through October 2027 with area restoration following shortly afterward. You may notice crews and trucks in the project area and within the right of way installing transmission infrastructure, stringing transmission lines, and building the new Carmel Church switching station.

During construction, there may be a rise in noise levels. Your electricity is not expected to be interrupted because of this construction work.

Thank you for your patience as work is completed for this important project.
