Line 224 230 kV Electric Transmission Rebuild Project

AT DOMINION ENERGY, we are committed to continually reviewing and analyzing our energy infrastructure to provide safe, reliable, and affordable electricity to our neighbors.

You are receiving this postcard because construction is scheduled to begin in early 2022 on phase 1 of the 230 kilovolt (kV) transmission rebuild project from Lanexa, Virginia to the Northern Neck, just east of Warsaw, Virginia. After five decades of reliable service, the structures and related components on this 41-mile line have reached the end of their service life and need to be replaced to maintain reliable service. The line crosses the Mattaponi, Pamunkey, and Rappahannock rivers.

Phase 1 activities will consist of danger tree removal. Danger trees are trees located outside the right of way that pose a potential risk to our transmission lines. Crews will also build access roads and foundations for the new structures. Work will occur between Lanexa Substation and Route 249.

In addition, we want to inform you that in the wake of the ongoing public health concerns from the spread of the coronavirus, we are mindful of our activities and maintaining property owner interactions with the appropriate social distancing.

We will keep you updated as activities progress.
